

Zoning Ordinance Is Re-drawn, Introduced

Re-drafted Ordinance, Opening
Montgomery Ave. to Business,
Passes First Reading.

OBJECTORS PETITION

A new zoning ordinance, incorporating the change of Montgomery Avenue from Narberth to Haverford Avenues from a residential to a business district was introduced and passed on first reading at the March meeting of Council on Monday night.

Although the entire zoning ordinance is being redrafted, virtually the only change is that affecting Montgomery Avenue.

As now proposed there will be an eighteen-foot set-back for parking inside the borough line on the south side of the street, and a seven-foot sidewalk back of the space allotted for parking. The building line has been tentatively established twenty-five feet from the borough line. This will make it fifty-one feet from the centre of Montgomery Avenue.

Councilmen stated that the ordinance would doubtless undergo changes and modifications before final adoption.

A petition signed by forty-one citizens, representing thirty-five properties on adjacent streets, was also presented at the meeting objecting to the inclusion of Montgomery Avenue in a

Big Meeting

At a largely attended business meeting of the Woman's Community Club of Narberth on Tuesday it was voted to accept the invitation of the Recreation Board to use the West Wing of the Community Building for club meetings, beginning in October, 1931. Many happy years have been spent in Elm Hall due to the hearty co-operation of the Fire Company and the club. But it seemed unwise to decline so generous offer.

At the last meeting of the Board of Directors of the Woman's Community Club of Narberth the following were appointed members of the nominating committee for officers of the club who will be elected in May: Mrs. H. A. Jacobs, chairman; Mrs. J. H. Speck and Mrs. Nelson Rowley.

Mrs. David N. Patterson, Chairman of Literature of the Montgomery County Federation, gave an interesting talk to the club members about books. Mrs. Patterson's advice was to do a certain amount of reading every day and to read only the best of books. About 4,000,000 books were published

Narberth Association of 1891, Considering Purchase of Fire Apparatus, Buys Extinguisher Instead

An interesting sidelight on the changes wrought by time was brought out at the meeting of the Narberth Borough Council on Monday night when Councilman J. R. Hall, following the reading of the report of the Finance Committee, cited a similar report at a meeting of the Narberth Association in March, 1891.

In this report of forty years ago bills totaled the terrific sum of $10.12, which was itemized as follows: Collection of ashes, $7.50; collection of garbage, $2.50; postage, $0.12. The sum of $16 was received during this month.

Fire Company to Get New Apparatus

Purchase of American La France Hose and Chemical Truck Is Approved.

An American La France combination hose and chemical fire apparatus will be added to the equipment of the Narberth Fire Company. A recommendation to this effect was adopted by the Borough Council at its meeting on Monday night.

Passage of this motion by five to seven vote closed a discussion of a couple of months over the type of apparatus to be purchased. The American La France apparatus best suited the firemen of any of the types tried out, and had, as they pointed out, the advantages of more speed and hill climbing ability. Its purchase also

CANVASSING OPINION

In the interest of the boys of Narberth, a group of twenty-eight fathers met in the auditorium of Elm Hall a few days ago and set in motion a systematic plan of activities designed to place Narberth at the head of the list of Main Line towns in this respect.

Every community today has its so-called "boy problem." Narberth's is of no great magnitude, yet it exists as the official records of the borough will show. To solve it properly, the Fathers' Association has taken it upon itself, first, to secure the proper and necessary equipment, and then to see that the utmost benefit is derived from it for every boy living within the confines of the borough.

Heretofore the Fathers' Association has devoted its attention exclusively to the local Boy Scout troops. Under the proposed plan this association of parents intends to reach out and, in addition to providing a "home" for the Boy Scout organization, establish a place which every boy in Narberth will be at liberty to call his own, for the conduct of such activities as he and his companions may choose and at whatever time is acceptable to them. In other words, a rendezvous for Narberth's boys, under careful parental supervision, is now contemplated by the members of the Fathers' Association.

To accomplish this it will be essential to have the support of the fathers

Mulieres Hold an Enjoyable Meeting

Educational Pictures Presented by Bell Telephone Company.

du MARAIS, SUPLEE SPEAK

The Mulieres of the Narberth Fire Company held a very enjoyable meeting in Elm Hall on Monday evening.

The meeting was opened by Tristram B. du Marais, president of the Narberth Fire Company, who told why it was essential for every resident of the borough to become a member of the company and to support it financially. It is true that Council appropriates a certain sum, but there are many expenses for the maintenance of the company and therefore the residents must either by donations or benefits help the company to meet their heavy expenses.

George Suplee, treasurer of the company, was the next speaker and explained the various expenses, one of which is a $25,000 mortgage on the building of the Fire Company. From his viewpoint $3.00 per year was not much for membership considering that the insurance rate on properties in Narberth are comparatively low.

One of the outstanding features of the program was the presentation of educational pictures sponsored by the Bell Telephone Company. James E. Hearl, an official of the telephone company, explained the pictures. One of the most enjoyable was the radio telephone to foreign countries, namely, that of France, Norway, Sweden, Australia and different countries in South America.

Mr. Hearl also spoke of the invention of the radio telephone which occurred during the Great War, and has been developed and used since that time.

The next picture was rather instructive, especially to the operators of motor cars, as it demonstrated the luck of the careful driver. These were followed by a fire prevention picture entitled "Wide Awake," and in conclusion one which was called "Wings and Wings."

The Mulieres wish to thank Mr. Hausman, who operated the motion picture machine, and Mr. Hearl for a most enjoyable evening.

The Board meeting will be held at 208 Essex Avenue on April 8 at 10:30 A. M.

Mrs. J. J. Findeison, of Shirley Road, was recently appointed assistant publicity chairman by Mrs. Eberhardt Mueller, president of the Mulieres.

The officers of the Narberth Association in 1891 were: A. A. Lowrey, president; W. S. Johnston, vice president; W. H. Fussell, secretary, and Charles E. Kreamer, treasurer.

Its committee consisted of the following: Public Safety—W. L. Owens, W. R. Wright, C. W. McFarlane. Public Works—M. S. Moore, O. Frotocher, D. H. Hunter. Ways and Means—W. S. Johnston, F. A. Hayes, C. C. Douglass. Membership—J. Mullineaux, Jr., Charles E. Kreamer and H. J. Ketcham.

One of the projects which the predecessors of Borough Council were at one time considering was the laying of plank and stone crossings at street intersections.

SIXTH GRADE VISITS UNIVERSITY MUSEUM

Whirl! and ten automobiles filled with sixth grade pupils left the Narberth School on their way to the University Museum. This happened on Friday afternoon, March 6. We reached it without any accidents and saw many such things as a colossal winged and human-headed bull guarding the doorway of the palace of Assur Nasir Ad, and a gold helmet found in the tomb of Mes-Calam Dug. We also saw many small works of ancient sculptors, a tomb that looked like an airplane without wings or propeller, a crystal sphere known as the Dowager Empress, which incidentally was not used by the great Prince Ali-Bendou. We also found out that the ancient Romans gambled with dice. Our guide then gave a talk on the effects of the Crusades, with scenic effects. After this we went into the Arabic room, where we saw the Koran (Mohammedan Bible), and other Arabian books, vases and glassware. Just before we left we saw some mummies, the work of ancient Egypt. I am sure we all appreciated, enjoyed and profited by the trip.

Miss Hoover and all the pupils who went wish to thank the people who were kind enough to drive their cars for us.

NARBERTH SCHOOL SUN DIAL STAFF VISITS PUBLIC LEDGER BUILDING

On Tuesday afternoon at 2:45 the Sun Dial staff of the Narberth School visited the Public Ledger Building. We went in cars, the drivers of which were Miss McAuliffe, Mrs. Bailey, Mr. Wentz, Mrs. McConnell, Mrs. Berry, Mrs. Moore and Mr. Drennen. We want to thank the parents for their service.

When we arrived we went up to the fourth floor to Room 440. There were several pictures on the wall which illustrated the machines, so that when we went through the plant we would know something about them. Mr. Findall, the guide, showed us how photographs are made, how the comic strip is printed, also how the magazine section of the Public Ledger is prepared.

When we went through the plant we saw an office where news from all over the world was received by telegraph typewriters. We then went through a room where the type was set and the casts made. We went out on a little balcony up above the presses. There were sixteen presses. The presses produced 30,000 papers an hour or 500 papers a minute. If you would cut all the newspaper made in one day in eighteen-inch strips and paste them together they would reach around the world four times. The paper is on big rolls. The paper passes between brass rolls and comes out at the side of the press printed, folded, cut and counted.

That was the last room we were in. Then we went outside and had our pictures taken. Be looking for them in the Public Ledger the beginning of next week.

NEW MANUAL TRAINING PROJECTS

During the last few weeks we have been finishing our bookracks and are now making anything we want. Mr. Weatheril gives us the wood and the plans and then we begin. Some of the articles are: End tables, table lamps (many different kinds), baby chairs, "bell hop" smoking stands, magazine racks, taborets, footstools, eight-sided waste baskets and bird houses. All of the things are turning out nicely and some are to be in the exhibition in the spring.

SIXTH GRADE BOYS EXHIBIT ART

On Thursday, January 5, the sixth grade boys gave an exhibition of their art. First of all I shall explain how it came about:

After we were all seated one Tuesday afternoon, Miss Gassner told us that, on March 5, we were to show some of our art work. She then gave the pupils each a sheet of drawing paper. We ruled it off into four equal squares. In these we were to draw a scene from any of our studies or the books on our reading list. When this was done Miss Gassner chose the five boys who had the best drawings, as captains. They were Bob Carroll, Nelson Bucher, Emil Roesler, Harrison Berry and DeHaven Grace. After this was done she let each of us choose a group of boys. Each group then chose the best of four small sketches of its captain. It was these sketches that were enlarged to pictures nine feet square. Each group outlined its sketch on this great piece of paper. After they had gotten their proportion they drew it. Within three or four weeks all this was done. We then used poster paint and with some fine new brushes, colored our sketches. Now let's leave the boys painting and I'll tell you what each captain took. Bob Carroll took "Tom Sawyer"; Nelson Bucher, "Rip Van Winkle"; Emil Roesler, "Captain Chap"; Harrison Berry a "Roman chariot race," and DeHaven Grace, "Mountainous Norway." Now let's return to the boys. I see they are finished, so let's skip all the way to March 5.

The program began with John Krout reading the Bible, the saying of the Lord's Prayer, and the saluting of the flag. The curtain went up. Each picture was shown to the audience, while the boys who painted it stood beside it and held a card bearing the name of the picture.

I think the program was well enjoyed by everyone. I, at least, got the pleasure of helping to give it.

DeHaven Grace, Jr., 6th.

The schools will be closed Thursday and Friday afternoons, March 19 and 20, so that the teachers may attend Schoolmen's Week. Miss Hoak and Mrs. Postelle visited the Glenside-Weldon School, Abington Township, on Wednesday. Misses Miller and Hoover visited the same school yesterday. Misses McAuliffe and Enion will visit Germantown Friends' School today. There will be no first grade classes this afternoon.

Senior Group Wins

L. M. Play Contest

Five hundred people attended the annual play contest of the Lower Merion High School, held last Friday night at the school. The silver plaque was won by the Senior class production of "Finders Keepers," by George Kelly. George H. Gilbert, principal of the school, presented the prize to the successful group.

Members of the cast of the winning play were Charles Lueders, Ray Wilson and Catherine Purcell. The coach was Miss Florence Nicholson, and the student manager was Richard McCurdy.

The judges gave special mention in the awarding of the prize to Miss Elinor Schoff for her work in a dual role in the Junior class play, "Jazz and Minuet," by Ruth Giorloff. Others in the Junior cast were Marion Tipton, Robert Braid, Eleanor Jones and Howard Lodge. Miss Margaret Waller was coach and Anne Adams was student manager.

"The Kelly Kid," by Kathleen Norris and Dan Totherch, was the Sophomore production. In the cast were Ruth Rogers, Peggy MacGuffin, Cecelia Link, Mildred Pearce, Dick Rockwell, Crozer Ludlow and Ned Bartlett. The coach was Miss Myrna Sheely and the student manager was Janet DeVilbiss.

The judges were Mrs. H. Morgan Ruth, of Plays and Players; Mrs. Richards Bard, of Wayne, and Miss Louise Everetts, of Philadelphia.

Music for the three plays was given by the high school orchestra.

Certain Opinions

Alas! the majority of radio programs are built on the medicine show idea, i. e., a spiel about the great elixir, an act of indifferent vaudeville, another spiel, another act, ad infinitum. In fact the radio advertisers could learn something from their disreputable fore-runner. The "doctor" always sensed when his audience wouldn't stand further palaver on the merits of snake-root and would announce the next song and dance. And he didn't make the mistake of having his entertainers sing parodies about his cure-alls and the ailments they would relieve.

Has it ever occurred to you why Amos 'n' Andy continue to be the most popular of the four programs broadcast from WJZ from 6:45 to 7:45, that hour when the masses have their suppers? The answer is that A et A are not compelled to discuss decaying teeth or unpleasant breath, that duty being reserved for the announcer. Their predecessor on the air, on the other hand, must delve into a table of contents, and the artists who follow sing songs and tell jokes about the products made by their employers. Some day the radio publicists will learn what the newspaper and magazine publishers found out long ago (with some minor exceptions) that it is fatal to let news and advertising columns intramix.

The Prime Minister of Denmark has declared a policy of "Greenland for the Eskimos." Good for him. The blessings of civilization are to be denied to the Esquimaux, no small break that is for the Arctic aboriginals. Even those who would like to live in a place where experimentation is banned and there isn't any veneer to wear off, must be disappointed. For the "back to nature" folk might decide on a few modern improvements after the first lure of the primitive had worn off. The Danish P. M. knows this and so the edict is firm and final that Greenland stays as is. And not so many of us care with spring coming on.

Good comes from the most unexpected sources. Director Schofield's determination to continue raids on private homes in Philadelphia ought to boom suburban real estate.

Ordinarily Lower Merion has scores of commissions, clubs, committees and whatnot. But for the next several weeks (let's hope) it will have a basketball team, no casualties and a horse-shoe.

There are all sorts of people in the world—the Wynnewood gardener who worked fifty years in one place, and the "Class of '29's most promising young man" who worked fifty places in one year.

Hilda Dahlgren, blonde and Swedish, who has just inherited $25,000, will continue to be a maid because she says: "I don't know a rich family in New York whose wealth brought happiness." I am not in a position to say Hilda is incorrect, but I know that, given a comfortable endowment, I should cease present labors and devote myself to the art of leisurely living. In fact, I figure one of the greatest blessings that could befall this country would be to subsidize youth, both sexes, who are not too earnest or zealous and who care nothing whatever for self-improvement for the sake of monetary gain. The fellows who like to burn the midnight oil and who enjoy starting at the bottom and working up could still have their place, but I feel that the unambitious good liver with a competence would form a most interesting and delightful class. Something ought to be done about it.

The beliefs of the uninitiated are strange, indeed. Many a person figures a rock garden is formed by dumping a few boulders and smaller stones in some obscure spot and then hoping vegetation will fight its way from beneath to the sunlight.—E. L. P.

The Editor's Column

A plan which should have the support of every resident of Narberth is that of the Fathers' Association to provide an adequate headquarters for not only the Scout Troop, but all boys of the borough.

A place where the youth can go, where they can rough house when they feel inclined without fear of parental interference, where games and scout activities can be pursued is badly needed.

The present Scout House is entirely inadequate. It is not only unattractive; it is downright ugly and none can blame the boys for wanting better quarters. Furthermore it is not properly heated, is too small and provides space for only a small group.

The immediate program of the Fathers' Association is merely to ascertain public opinion on its program. If it finds that support will be forthcoming when it is sought, it will be carried out. If, on the other hand, it finds there is little or no public interest in providing decent and adequate facilities for Narberth boys and Boy Scouts, it will be dropped. And if it is, so much the worse for the youth of the borough.

Petitions flourish. Old Gulph Road, in Lower Merion, has its supporters who desire to keep the rural atmosphere, winding roads and old trees. The township, on the other hand, plans to improve the street, and in so doing it looks as though some trees are doomed. The matter will come before the Board of Township Commissioners at their March meeting next Wednesday. In this respect, Narberth is one up on its larger neighbor. It has a Shade Tree Commission, whose powers are limited, yet which tends to act as a deterrent influence when it comes to cutting down trees, etc.

Although the revised zoning ordinance was passed on first reading at Council Monday night, it is unlikely that it will be finally adopted without further changes. The petition presented to the Borough Fathers in opposition to the inclusion of Montgomery Avenue in a business district may have some weight before final passage of the ordinance. And there seem to be other residents who would like to be included in a business district, claiming their properties are no longer good for anything but business. How does it happen when there are so many valuable sites for business in residential districts that there are still unrented stores in the borough? Or how about making the entire borough into one business district or doing away with zoning altogether and then everybody could sell their property for business at a handsome profit. When that day comes, we intend to move to Lower Merion Township.

It is a matter of pride that the job of head football coach at the University of Pennsylvania should, after the lapse of a year, again come to a Narberth man. Harvey J. Harman succeeds Louis Alonzo Young with the best wishes of his many friends in Narberth and on the Main Line. As track coach at Lower Merion Junior High School and football coach at Haverford College for eight years, Harman gained an outstanding reputation, not only as a coach but as a leader and friend of boys. Absent this year from the borough as coach at the University of the South, Harman has retained his home at 15 Woodbine Avenue, where, it is rumored, he will be back again before long.

The Narberth Fire Company has gained its point which was to get an American La France fire engine. It took a couple of months to do so, but it was well worth it in the firemen's opinion. Its equipment, when the new apparatus is delivered, will be second to none on the Main Line or in the Philadelphia suburbs for that matter. Already Narberth boasts of the lowest fire insurance rates of any community on the Main Line, which largely results from having such an efficient company. Don't forget this when you are solicited for a membership in the fire company. The three dollars you thus invest you save in fire insurance rates and protection.

Lower Merion's championship basketball team will meet the first obstacle on the road to the State title in the shape of the Palmerton five at Allentown tomorrow night. Doubtless not a few boroughites will be wending their way northward for the event.

That silver lining to the cloud doesn't always enable a man to get in out of the wet.

Main Lines

A MAIN LINER reader has sent us the following excerpt from a letter written to her about conditions in Pittsburgh that she thought might interest others as much as it did her:

"Work is about as bad as ever around here; about the only thing new is a jam that Mayor Kline and a few more of them are in. I think everybody was kicking about the rise in taxes, and when it came down to facts the man who was buying for Mayview and other supplies for the city of Pittsburgh was paying the highest prices instead of trying to help the people.

"One of the rugs in the Mayor's office cost $1985. You should be glad you are not paying taxes here this year.

Replies to questionnaires sent out to the Haverford College graduates and printed in the Haverford News show some interesting facts. Ten per cent. of the alumni sent in replies two days after receiving the questionnaire. We hope that they are just as prompt in paying their bills!

Sixty-seven of the ninety-three who responded so quickly are married. Sixty per cent. chose college women for wives, with Bryn Mawr leading the list. There must be something in propinquity after all!

English and mathematics lead the list in subjects which have been of the greatest value to the graduates in their work, while history takes the first place as having "the most value to the cultural life of the graduates."

Cricket and tennis rank with football in sport popularity.

"The outstanding contribution which Haverford made to these ninety-three alumni is 'a cultural background with broad intellectual interests.'"

An important factor to us is that this Haverford questionnaire really gets somewhere. It's far above the usual "What is your favorite tobacco and movie star?" type.

Current comment on journalistic errors and schools plus the recent "End of the World" leaves an opening for repeating an anecdote of newspaperdom when Irving S. Cobb was a reporter on The World under a city editor of the same surname. (The contributor isn't at all certain whether either of the Cobbs ever was connected with the late Pulitzer journal, but what difference does it make?)

Irving, then not a famous humorist, did not get along well with City Editor Cobb. Why the newsroom boss did not fire the rotund Kentuckian is not stated, but assurances are made that relations between the two were strained.

One evening (assuming it was the Morning World), Irving arrived for assignments, found an assistant at the city desk, and inquired of Mr. Cobb's whereabouts.

"He's sick," replied the assistant. "Oh, dear me," commented Irving, "I hope it's nothing trivial."

We see by the papers that the Black Derby Boys, the super-sleuths of Lower Merion Township, have had a word of praise from the bench.

Said the stout and learned young Judge Corson—George to his friends—at the recent trial of several young men for robbery: "I have great confidence in the Lower Merion Police Department. Lieutenant Mullin and the officers under him are fair and conscientious in their duties."

Well, Judge, you could have said a lot more and still be within the bounds of conservative statement. Patsy Mullin and Walter Brown are good detectives. If they choose to wear similar black derbies and thereby give the impression they are a vaudeville team, that's their business. They put on a good show—and it's no song and dance for the person who is interviewed in the narrow confines of the lieutenants' office in the Ardmore police station.

Narberth Theatre Notes

Alluring Marlene Dietrich appears at the Narberth Theatre for the first time this week-end in "Morocco," the artistic masterpiece of direction and acting. (Plot is old, but with new life very much worth seeing.) Gary Cooper and Adolphe Menjou aid in giving a polished performance. And as an added feature Charlie Chaplin burlesques "Carmen."

Amos 'n' Andy, now riding the crest of their wave of popularity, appear in "Check and Double Check" at Narberth next Monday and Tuesday, and at matinees both days. One reviewer of the film declared: "Ise Regusted," but here's a chance to see the radio performers, anyway.

Next Wednesday and Thursday will witness, in Narberth, the thrilling gangster story, "Little Caesar," which gives interesting new angles of the old, old gang narrative. In the cast are Edward G. Robinson and Douglas Fairbanks, Jr.

"Tom Sawyer," screen version of Mark Twain's great novel of childhood, is coming next week-end. Very capable acting is done by Jackie Coogan, Mitzi Green and Jackie Searl. Highly recommended by critics.

Egyptian Theatre News

Will Rogers is playing in "Lightnin'" at the Egyptian this Friday and Saturday. Humorous and diverting.

Maurice Chevalier's first talking cinema in the United States, filmed two years ago, was "Innocents of Paris." So grand was it that critics have termed more recent pictures as "almost as good" or "not so good" as the original. In it, the famed French comedian sang seven songs, including "Louise" and "Valentia"—in both English and French. Requests for the picture have been so many, as Chevalier rose in popularity, that the Egyptian Theatre's management is giving the talking picture a new showing next Monday and Tuesday. Very much worth seeing by the entire family.

Accompanying "Innocents of Paris" next Monday and on St. Patrick's Day, is a Burton Holmes travelogue: "Dublin and Nearby."

Ruth Chatterton, sometime termed first lady of the screen, plays two characters in "The Right to Love," coming to Cynwyd next Wednesday and Thursday. Paul Lukas is in this as he was in her "Anybody's Woman." Adult entertainment.

The stage thriller, "The Cat and the Canary," reappears as "The Cat Creeps" at the Egyptian next Friday and Saturday. Very thrilling and funny in spots. In it are Helen Twelvetees and Raymond Hackett.

Music

The Main Line Orchestra under the direction of Adolph Vogel will have as its soloist on Sunday evening, March 22, Henrieta Engelsberg, violinist, who will play with the orchestra the first two movements of Saint-Saens' Concerto in B minor.

On Sunday afternoon at the home of Stanley Muschamp, 47 South Seventeenth Street, Philadelphia, Harry Wilson, pianist, will give a joint recital with Wilbur Evans, baritone and winner of the Atwater Kent radio award. Mr. Evans will sing compositions of Handel, Schubert, Gounod and contemporary composers. Mr. Wilson will play compositions of Chopin, Talmgren, Ravel and Liszt.

The Combined Musical Clubs of Haverford College will give a concert under the auspices of the South Jersey Alumni at Moorestown next Friday. On March 27 a concert will be given in Roberts Hall, Haverford College.

Remaining plays in town are "Strictly Dishonorable," at the Broad; "The Silent Witness," at the Walnut, and "My Maryland," at the Shubert.

"Subway Express" closes its run at the Garrick tomorrow night.

The English Club of Haverford College will give Christopher Morley's one-act play, "Good Theatre," and Lady Gregory's "The Rising of the Moon," in the Union, at 8 P. M. this evening.

Narberth's Favorite RECIPES

Narberth Recipes

Here is a new and delicious appetizer which one of our readers, Mrs. William King Bodley, of Wynnewood, has kindly sent into our columns. It is made of raw cranberries, orange and apple and sugar, and is truly delicious.

Take one pint of cranberries, ½ orange, rind and all, and ½ an apple. Grind all these together in a meat chopper, taking care to save all of the juice. Mix well, then add one cup of sugar and mix thoroughly. It is better that this mixture be rather tart, but if so, add sugar to taste. The juice of a half lemon may be added if desired. This quantity makes about six medium-sized helpings. Double the quantity if more is desired.

Strawberry and Pineapple Cocktail

1 cup of orange juice.
1 cup of lemon juice.
1 cup of diced pineapple.
Sugar.
1 cup of strawberries.

Combine the orange and lemon juice, sweetened to taste, keeping the mixture rather tart. Place on the ice. Wash and drain strawberries and hull them. At serving, cut the strawberries in half (except 6 large ones), mix them with pineapple, place in glasses and cover with fruit juice. One large strawberry, set on a tiny circle of pineapple, may decorate the top of each cocktail.

Hot Milk Sponge Cake

Here is a cake recipe which is very delicious and is sent in to us by Mrs. Walton M. Wentz, of Wayne Avenue: Sift together three times 1 cup of flour, 1 teaspoon of baking powder.

Beat three eggs until very thick and light and nearly white. Add one cup of sugar gradually and beat constantly. Then add two tablespoons of lemon juice and fold in the flour alternately with six tablespoons of hot milk, mixing until the batter is smooth.

Bake at once in an ungreased tube pan in a moderate oven (350 degrees Fahr. 45 minutes). Remove from oven and invert pan one hour or until cold before removing.

Authorize Street Light

An eighty-candlepower street light was authorized for the end of Beechwood Lane by Council Monday night. Previously authorized, it was found by the Philadelphia Electric Company that several poles would have to be erected to install it with additional cost to the borough, which made this further authorization necessary.

New Painting in Library Arouses Much Interest

Much interest has been aroused by the lovely painting of "Trees in Spring" which was placed this week on the mantel over the fireplace at the library. The picture is the gift of Mrs. Philip Pitcher, of Forest Avenue, who had purchased it a few years ago from an exhibit in New York City.

The artist, E. Walls Lieb, is of the modern French school which has its centre in Paris, and he and his New York associates follow their ideal of the impressionistic presentation of nature, studying unusual color combinations, and applying them in masses. Visitors to New York have very probably seen Mr. Lieb's paintings in the gallery of the Grand Central station, where they have been exhibited several times during the last few years.

This particular painting catches the delicacy of spring's awakening, clad in white, tremulous and eager, rising from the sombre hues of winter's covering. The shimmering pool almost escapes the attention so calm does it lie, reflecting the slow passing of white clouds. Canvases like these are generally displayed without a frame, but the library may feel later that it will be more suitable to its purpose if a frame is added.

The Thirteenth Guest

If thirteen are at the table
To partake of a good meal,
We quickly lose our appetite
And strange forebodings feel.

We may be the fated victim
To pass within the year.
We can't be sure which one 'twill be,
And so we shake with fear.

We've heard of other cases
When the prophecy came true.
We try to think its nonsense
But we can't help feeling blue.

We wish that we had stayed at home
And had refused to come.
We would have felt much safer
If this thing had not been done.

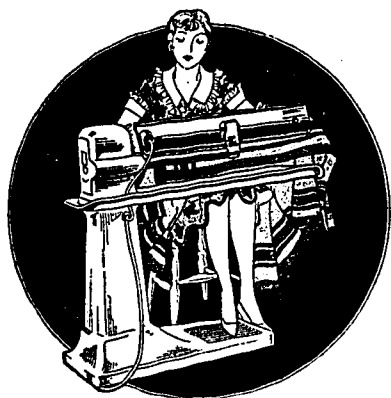

We'll try to make the best of it
And hope this time 'twill fail.
No matter how we worry
It will not the least avail.

We wish we could shake off this fear,
This strange fear of thirteen.
We're sure tonight, when in our beds,
Of thirteen guests we'll dream.

and mothers who occupy the 1200 homes in the borough. A canvass of the town has therefore been started by the twenty-eight men to ascertain whether or not the plans outlined above shall be carried out. Every resident of the borough will be seen between now and the first of April. No money will be collected, but a record will be made of whatever financial assistance is offered.

Under the contemplated program, the present indebtedness of $4800 on the plot of ground at the corner of Essex and Elmwood Avenues on which the Boy Scout cabin is now located must be removed. In addition, a suitable house will, of necessity, have to be erected on it. This, according to plans calling for a 30-foot by 40-foot open floor space will cost in the neighborhood of $3500. Including heating, plumbing and lighting work, the total expenditure necessary to provide what is considered a minimum of facilities for the youth of the borough will amount to about $8500.

After the canvass of the borough has been completed, on April 1, it is found that the residents, as well as the business houses in the borough and those doing business in Narberth but whose headquarters are located elsewhere, are willing to support this enlarged program, the funds will be gathered and work started immediately.

Should the canvass determine that there is only sufficient money offered to pay off the $4800 indebtedness on the plot of ground, that will be done and all sums over that amount will be used to start a fund with which to build the house at some later date. Finally, should it develop that it is not possible even to pay for the land, the entire project will be abandoned. The decision of the residents of the borough will determine the course to be followed.

The men who answered the call of the Fathers' Association were Walton M. Wentz, president of the association; A. W. Burns, vice president; I. Newcomb Wilson, secretary-treasurer; Burgess Henry A. Frye, J. C. Batchelor, C. W. Graham, George O. Schroder, R. R. Daubert, W. S. Deaves, Howard White, A. K. LeFevre, C. K. Stahl, R. F. Cook, Harry A. Simpson, C. R. Humphries, W. H. Haws, T. E. Laughlin, H. W. Dotsenroth, O. H. Graves, C. C. Mason, Philip A. Livingston, William H. Fowler, W. J. Drennen, George R. Markle, Edward J. Purring, George B. Knapp, Winfield H. Cook and Walter G. Case.

President Wentz, of the Fathers' Association, presided at the meeting. After a delightful dinner, prepared and served by the Women's Auxiliary to the Boy Scouts, Mr. Frye introduced the subject with remarks based on actual experience with the boy problem through his position as the law enforcing official of the borough.

Mr. Wentz briefly traced the history of the Boy Scout work that has been going on for some years, and of the acquisition of the land on which the cabin is now located. He then outlined in minute detail the program of activity, which had previously been decided upon by the officers and members of the Fathers' Association, to place Narberth's work among its boys on a sound footing.

Plans of the borough were distributed. Blue prints of a proposed building, designed by Osborne H. Graves, were passed around, and every one present was given an opportunity to voice his opinion on the new move in the interest of not only the Boy Scouts of the borough, but of every boy living within the borough limits.

Discuss International Affairs

The International Relations Committee of the Woman's Community Club of Narberth held a meeting at the home of Mrs. Robert Fellows Wood on Monday afternoon. International Affairs in relation to Peace were discussed. A paper entitled "Turns Toward Peace," by Agnes McPhail, a member of the Canadian Parliament, was read and discussed. Another feature was the discussion of Chamberlain's Study of the Russian Situation.

Large Gathering Hears Mrs. Grace Livingston Hill

Last Sunday evening the Women's Bible Class of the Narberth Presbyterian Church were responsible for a most interesting service in that church. The speaker of the evening was none other than the distinguished and beloved authoress, Mrs. Grace Livingston Hill, the writer of a large number of books of fiction which are particularly popular with our younger generation.

The women responsible for the program felt quite gratified to note the large and enthusiastic attendance of 345 people, which is a record Sunday evening figure.

For once the ladies had everything their way and carried through the whole program with the assistance of only two men. Peter Stam, Jr., presided at the organ, and the pastor, Rev. John Van Ness, who is also the teacher of the Women's Bible Class, introduced the speaker. Mrs. J. B. Wheeler, president of the class, read the Scripture lesson.

An outstanding feature of the evening was the splendid singing of the women's chorus. They sang two very fine selections, "Let Me Help Someone Today" and "He Was Wounded for Our Transgressions." Mrs. Peter Stam, Jr., also rendered a vocal solo.

Mrs. Livingston's address was on "Separation." Introducing her topic, she very graphically related the story of a man who had been saved from an angry sea by a minister, who, in turn, lost his life. Upon his complete recovery, the rescued man never ceased to tell everyone with whom he came in contact, "A man died for me once." And from this Mrs. Livingston proceeded to speak upon the power of the resurrection life as it is in Christ, and, how, though we should be dead unto sin, we should be alive unto Christ and live in the power of His resurrection. She ended her talk with a beautiful story of her own which dealt with the problems of the young people of Moses' day.

It was, indeed, a rare treat and all those who attended are hoping that another opportunity of this sort will again be afforded out townspeople.

Legion Participates in Funeral of Lieutenant Hall

A funeral with military honors was given to Lieutenant Thomas G. Hall, veteran of the Civil War, by the Harold D. Speakman Post, No. 356, of the American Legion of Narberth, last Thursday. Post colors accompanied the body to Arlington Cemetery, Drexel Hill. A squad of marines from the Philadelphia Navy Yard in full dress fired the salute of three volleys over the grave, and the marine bugler sounded taps. The American Legion funeral service was read at the grave by the Post Commander, Frank Schrepfer. Six members of the Post were the pallbearers: Arthur L. Cooke, William H. Durbin, Clifford K. Goodwin, Walter Miesen, John Nash and John Clarke. Funeral services were held at the home of Mr. Hall's daughter, Mrs. Charles Greyer, 306 Essex Avenue, at 2 o'clock and from there the party proceeded to the cemetery. Mr. Hall was 97 years of age.

Back to early eighteenth century days—the days of much lace and many pearls, of frills and fans, jewels and flowers, gorgeous fabrics and astounding coiffures—back to those days of lavish courts, and knights and ladies, go the Hats of Spring, 1931, for the gardenias that cluster under their brims, the violets massed low over the hair, and for the ribbon bows and clustered feathers placed at unexpected places. » » These are the Hats tempered to 1931 simplicity that will accompany Easter costumes.

Narberth Girl Author of Educational Article

An article by S. Lucia Keim, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hervey C. Keim, of Dudley Avenue, appeared in the December issue of the Journal of Educational Method. It is entitled "A Unit in the Social Studies and Correlated Subjects," and is based upon a study of the country of Holland.

This unit of work was originated by Miss Keim and the children of one of the third grades of the Shaker Heights Elementary Schools, Shaker Heights, O. A careful record was kept of the development of the study, the reactions of the children, and all of the activities proposed and completed by them. It has been set forth in a very interesting manner in this article.

The study bears out the growing idea of educators that the purpose of the school curriculum is to give children practice in their daily experiences for living rightly in a complex and rapidly changing civilization. The best material for this purpose centers in the "Story of Man" or the Social Studies. It also recognizes a thorough mastery of the tool subjects, arithmetic, reading, spelling, writing, as essential to the study of the "Story of Man."

The article shows clearly to what extent the tool subjects may be motivated and utilized by a community activity in the Social Studies. One of the most interesting parts of the article is a table of correlated studies setting forth the needs for and contributions of reading, spelling, oral and written English, arithmetic, art and music, gymnasium and hygiene, to the progress of the study. The table shows briefly how every phase of the school's activities may become vital and interesting to the child.

Forum Members Consider the Miracles of Jesus

The Gallilean ministry of Jesus was the principal subject of the Forum meeting last Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. C. Custer on Avon Road, but the discussion finally reached the next scheduled subject, which was the miracles of Jesus. This caused a most interesting exchange of ideas and opinions. There was far from complete agreement as to the exact nature of the miracles that the Gospel writers ascribe to Jesus and as to the attitude of Jesus Himself toward them, so far as that is revealed. The subject of the miracles will be continued at the next meeting, which will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Staples, 124 Woodside Avenue, next Thursday evening, the 19th, and in preparation for that meeting.

Timely Notes for the Main Line Garden Lover

By ROBERT J. EDGAR

Quoting the late Ernest H. Wilson in More Aristocrats of the Garden, "Long ago gardening was acclaimed the greatest of human pleasures, the greatest refreshment to the spirit of man. And those who plant a garden best know this wisdom. To get closely in touch with nature, to watch the procession of seasons, to note how change, wondrous change, proceeds, and how natural laws govern the bursting of bud, unfolding of flower and ripening of fruit is wholesome and leaves no time for ennui. To plant some flower and watch it develop to perfection is a fascinating pastime.

"Moreover it is creative and rich in object lessons to youth and maturity. As nations come to culture, love of the beautiful prevails. There is nothing more beautiful than a flower—and no flower so sweet as that raised by our own efforts, in our own garden, be it ever so small.

Our calendar tells us that spring will arrive on March 21, which means little because the gardener's spring is here. Snowdrops have already flowered. The winter aconite is in flower in the rock garden. Hepaticas in the woodland are in bud beneath the leaves. The skunk cabbage is in flower along the stream banks in the woodland. Columbine leaves are unfolding. Tips of delphinium are showing under the salt hay covering. Buds are swelling on the trees and the pussy willows are in bud. All of which reminds us that we are in a very favorable latitude for gardening as we have an open season of six months between frosts, April 15 to October 15 the average, while we may enjoy our gardens for at least a month earlier in spring and a month later in autumn.

The shad blow or service berry, also called shad bush and June berry, will soon be in flower in the woodland garden, as will the spice bush. Why do we not plant more of these beautiful native shrubs that are worshiped in other countries and neglected here? These two are beautiful in flower, in foliage and in fruit and will bring the birds to feed in our gardens. The ink berry is one of our best evergreen shrubs. The winter berry is beautiful for fall coloring and for winter fruit. The maple leaved viburnum is also beautiful in flower, fruit and for fall coloring and makes a fine companion to that most gorgeous of all flowering and fruiting trees—our own native white dogwood. Our native blueberries, tall and dwarf, should be planted. The coral berry and snowberry are also included. The hawthorns also fruit well under the same conditions. Add to the above list our native red cedar and Canadian hemlock and we will have a garden that will be beautiful at every season and every one will offer a feast for our friends—the birds.

The shade, or partial shade, of larger trees is all that is required for their well being—woody soil of leaf mold is of course preferred. We might add some mountain laurel for evergreen and flower, and if we want gorgeous bloom, plant azaleas, nudiflora and calendula. Ferns and wildflowers would complete the perfect garden. Just two more touches—a native holly tree and a clump of white birch.

Flower Show to Open Next Monday

This year's Philadelphia Flower Show opens Monday next, March 16, at the Commercial Museum, Thirty-fourth and Spruce Streets, Philadelphia. It is predicted that the 1931 show will be the greatest horticultural exhibition ever presented, the magnitude and costliness of the exhibits far surpassing anything ever previously attempted.

Rare orchids will be one of the features of the show—one exhibit alone having been appraised at a value in excess of $50,000. Roses, azaleas and rhododendrons will occupy thousands of feet of exhibit space, and over 200 specially constructed rock gardens will be on display.

Mrs. Herbert Hoover and Mrs. Henry Ford are among the notables expected to attend the show during the early part of the week.

Governor and Mrs. Pinchot have set aside Wednesday, March 18, for the sole purpose of attending the exhibition. They will be guests of the Pennsylvania Horticultural Society at luncheon at the Commercial Museum on that day.

Discuss Garden Plans

The Garden Club of Narberth met at the home of Mrs. Chris Koch on Windsor Avenue on Friday afternoon. Spring garden plans were discussed.

Fortnightly Club Meets Today

The Fortnightly Club is holding a luncheon followed by a meeting at the home of Mrs. Roy E. Clark, of Lodges Lane, Cynwyd, today. There will be a discussion of poetry at the meeting.

last year and only 300 were really worth reading. If the new good books are unobtainable, read the books which have stood the test of years and are still being read. Mrs. Patterson said that we can often shake off other outside influences, but when it comes to the things we put into our minds, we must give it careful consideration, and hence if we are discriminating in our choice of reading, we will be all the better for it. Mrs. Patterson also advised the class to have a Drama Study Group and spoke a little of these works.

The outstanding feature of the program was the talk on "Modern Religious Poetry" by the Rev. Robert E. Keighton, pastor of the Narberth Baptist Church. According to Mr. Keighton, the thought of poetry has changed during the past few years. Not only has poetry changed, but religion also. Today modern poetry is not so much a matter of rhyme, but one's attitude toward life; in other words, "what do you see when you are looking at the sky or an everyday affair?" If it means nothing to you, then you are a person whose soul is flat. The one who finds a deeper meaning and symbolizes the sky or the everyday affair has the soul of a poet. In recent years the thought of poetry has changed, and many of the old forms have been discarded. The same thing has also occurred in religious poetry. These modern religious poems have altogether forgotten the conventional forms of rhythm. As an illustration, Mr. Keighton read "The Man on the Cross" in which the organic conversational rhythm was used. No one today has to use a rhyming dictionary. Your poem is dependent alone on its conversational rhythm for its beauty. Take for instance the St. James version of the Bible, which is full of conversational rhythm, and compare it to the newer translations today and you will find the older translation the more beautiful. In religious poetry the bare facts of life are taken and have been made colorful, striking and in many cases very daring. A poet can even swear politely in the modern religious poems—that is, by shadings and nuances—until a marvelous effect is gained. In some cases modern religious poetry has become frankly agnostic. Probably the most striking and daring one, which Mr. Keighton read, was one entitled "The Nails." Another, which was very appealing, was "Rufus Prays." Religion and poetry are conditioned by the kind of life the public lead, and where religion and poetry cross you have religious poetry. In a way it is just as hard to define religion as it is to define poetry. To some religion is not merely a matter of creed, but it is of the spirit.

Mr. Keighton read many interesting bits from the following: "Christ in the Poetry of Today," by Elvira Slack; "Redemption," another anthology of the Cross, collected and edited by George Stewart; "Modern American Poetry," by Louis Untermeyer, and a "Testament of Beauty," by Robert Bridges. Among them were poems of Edna Vincent Millay, Carl Sanborn and a number of others.

Mr. Keighton also spoke of the new kind of hymn book we are now using, and contrasted it with those of 200 years ago and later periods. Mrs. William Levis, chairman of the Literature Department, was in charge of the program.

Zoning Ordinance Is Re-drawn, Introduced

business district.

The petition addressed to the president and members of the Narberth Borough Council read as follows:

"We, the undersigned property owners of the Borough of Narberth, of the County of Montgomery, of the State of Pennsylvania, do hereby petition you to oppose the passage of the proposed amendment to the zoning ordinance, wherein you have been petitioned to make the district along Montgomery Avenue from Haverford Avenue to Narberth Avenue available for business purposes.

"Our reasons for petitioning you in this manner are as follows: First, we affirm that, should the aforesaid amendment to the zoning ordinance be passed it would cause considerable depreciation in the value of our properties; second, the opening of a business district such as is proposed in the amendment to the zoning ordinance would destroy the residential nature of the locality wherein our properties are situated."

In order to be finally adopted the revised ordinance, including Montgomery Avenue in a new business zone, will have to be passed on second and third readings at subsequent meetings of Council, though it may be passed on both of these at one meeting.

would standardize the company's apparatus.

All bids for a similar piece of apparatus were rejected at the February meeting of Council, since it was felt it could not legally award the contract to the higher bidder. When bids were again received following readvertisement, the American La France apparatus was the only one which met the specifications.

The cost of the new apparatus will be $4800, counting an allowance of $200 on the old Autocar chemical truck. It is expected that delivery of the new apparatus will be made in the fall.

The bids for the fire apparatus were as follows: Mack, $5125, allowance on present Autocar, $825, net bid, $4300; Autocar, $4625, allowance on present Autocar, $500, net bid, $4125; American La France, $5000, allowance on present Autocar, $200, net bid, $4800.

In the vote on the recommendation of the Police and Fire Committee ayes were Messrs. Fretz, Hall, Bates, Kaerber and Haws; nos, Messrs. Wood and Leitch.

Twelve firemen of the company present at the meeting signified their preference for the American La France apparatus.

Miller Rotary Speaker

A talk on Fellowship by John A. Miller made up the program of the Bala-Cynwyd-Narberth Rotary Club Tuesday. An added bit of entertainment was afforded by Harry W. Taylor, one of the guests, who played and sang a number of vigorous melodies.

Among the guests was F. A. Bartlett, of Stamford, Conn., head of the tree expert company which bears his name. He was the guest of A. F. W. Vick.
